Some players believe that pessimism attracts bad luck and that the way to get good breaks is to think happy thoughts.

Today's South took the queen of spades and happily led the jack of diamonds. East held off but took the next diamond and switched to hearts. The defenders got two hearts, two clubs and a diamond to defeat the contract.

A pessimist leads the eight of diamonds at the second trick and overtakes with dummy's nine. If East wins with the ten, South takes the return and leads the jack of diamonds to dummy's queen. He can continue the diamonds from dummy if necessary, and is therefore sure of four diamonds, three spades and two hearts.

If East refuses the first diamond, South switches to clubs. He wins the return and leads the jack of diamonds. East cannot afford to win, and South switches back to clubs to get three spades and two tricks in each of the other suits.

Pessimism may curdle your disposition, but it improves your score.

DAILY QUESTION: Partner bids one notrump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: Spades-5 2; Hearts-K 6 3; Diamonds-K Q 9 7 6 3; and Clubs-7 5. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three notrump. Game should be easy if partner can use your diamonds. It would be a mistake to bid only two notrump since partner cannot possibly tell whether or not to accept this invitation.
